POR SURVEYOR,

Fon the fiscal year ending June 30th 93, we imported goods to the value of $866,000,000. Of course, says The Commercial Gazette, we had to pay for them and the money they cost is gone from the country.

Worse Than

Of these goods there were at least $450,000,000 that under proper protection and bounty laws could e produced at home. Coffee, tea, raw siik, India rubber tropical fruits and grasses, cocoa, spices, quinine and some other articles, in all not costing over $400,000,000, are what we ought to import, and that we would import after ten years more of Republi-can Protection laws.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN never said a wiser thing, and no man ever made a better epigram on the Tariff than he, when he "When an American paid twenty dollars for steel to an English manu-facturer, America had the steel and England had the twenty dollars. But when he paid twenty dollars for steel to an American manufacturer, America had both the steel and the dollars."

We can grow all the wool, and many facture all the woolens this country needs, and yet we imported $21,000,000 worth of wool, and $38,000,000 worth of woolens. We had the wools and the woolens, but the foreigners had the

We imported, too, $33,000,000 of cotton goods, $39,000,000 of silk goods, $28,000, 000 of flax, hemp and jute goods, $34,000,000 of iron and steel goods, $9,000,000 of earthen, stone and china ware, $8,000 000 of glass and glassware, $16,000,000 of wood and its manufactures, all of which, with the exception of a little foreign wood, could be made in this

For these articles we paid in this one year $225,000,000. The foreigners get the money, and we get the goods, but we might have had both the goods and money. We made in this country of these same articles $1,200,000,000 worth. these same articles $1,200,000,000 worth.

It was only a question of time, and not a very long time, when we would not only make all we wanted, but make it better than any one else could. Republican legislation was bringing this to

We sent out the same year $105,000,000 We sent out the same year $105,000,000 for sugar. The Republicans had made a law ander which in a few years we would make our own sugar, but that law are repeated by the Democrats, who at the same time tried to destroy the Iswa under which we were fast approaching the candition when the country could furnish to all its people every article which nature permitted it to produce or canonicative.

Some Democrat will jump out of his some removar will jump out of his box, and say "I'we buy nothing we can seil nothing." That is as imbecile as Democratic attempts at legislation. If we make what the world wants, the world will buy it, and if it cannot pay for it in goods, will pay for it in money.

It so happens that we not only make what the world wants, but what the world is bound to have—bread and meat, tobacco, and cotton for ciothing. The world will buy them of us because, if it world will only inem of us because, it it could not get them anywhere else. What we sell, we sell because some one one wants it. What we buy, we buy because we want it. If our own people make it, we still buy it, but the money remains in the country. Nothing but the wonderful resources of the nonutry has been been to be the country of the country of

of the country have kept it from being impoverished by this drain upon its money, a drain that would have bankrupted any other people in the world, and nothing but the discovery of the Western gold and silver mines kept us from bankruptcy. That ideal Democratic Tariff prepared by Secretary Wal-KER, would have drained the country of every dollar of its money when, to save us, the mountains gave up their treas

England is the richest country in the England is the richest country in the world, because for hundreds of years it protected to the point of prohibition everything that an Englishman could be taught to make, and when everything could be made there better and cheaper than anywhere else, it opened its doors and invited the world to buy. English statesmen then commenced to preach Free-trade.

Our time for Free-trade has not come yet. When we manufacture enough of every article necessary to the comfort and pleasure of our own people to make the cost as low as the articles can be produced anywhere, and in addition have a surplus of some or all of these things, then we can preach Free-trade. Then we can talk as Senator MILLS and others we can talk as senator Mills and others like him do about "the good of human-ity." Until that time comes our laws should be made strictly on lines that will benefit our people and our country. There is the highest authority for saying that this is the proper and right thing to do. Nations are but aggrega tening to do. Antons are out aggregated feel families, and Sr. PAUL said "lie that does not provide for his own family it worse than a heathen." The Free trader and the Tariff reformer, the Democrat of today, is thus condemned as "worse than a heathen."

It was also resolved that propelled to provide sainfable dwellings, with thorough sanitary appointments, for their workmen.

Mr. Lloyd, the delegate representing the American Federation of Labor, addressed the congress. He said the time had come when the wage earners of the world should unite in closer fraternity. The fact that the trades greater progress in the matter of federation than those of America, he thought was partly due to the fact that there was little homogeneity among the workingmen of America.

The honesty of purpose of the labor leaders in England was recognized in America as the one secret of success of unions. He expressed hope that delevance was secretary.

The Monk!

By MATTHEW O. LEWIS, (NONK LEWIS.)

Mr. Lewis was a member of th British Parliament, and his boo became so popular in England hundred years ago that it gaine for him the title of "Mon Lewis."

It is a fine piece of classic com-position, and after being out of print for many years it has been republished from the original

It is far superior to "Maris Monk" and hooks of that char-
